

AWARDS

The Carolyn S. Langley Award in Speech Language Pathology is given to the graduate student who embodies the mind, heart and soul of the Speech Language Pathology program at Saint Mary's College. The recipient, chosen by academic and clinical faculty, is superior in scholarly achievement, an adaptive and reflective clinician, culturally sensitive, and compassionate to those in need.

The Madeleva Award is presented annually to the outstanding graduate student selected from the cohort receiving advanced degrees in recognition of scholastic distinction and exceptional achievement.
